

MI Podiatry Group Provides Shoes, Socks, and Screenings

The Summit Podiatry Group put its best foot forward Saturday morning, giving away more than 200 pairs of shoes and socks and offering free screenings at the Jackson Interfaith Shelter. The local health specialist provided everything from dress shoes to boots to casual footwear for all ages.

Attendees examine Dr. Comfort shoes distributed by Summit Podiatry Group (Photo: Lauren Wood)

Attendees examine Dr. Comfort shoes distributed by Summit Podiatry Group (Photo: Lauren Wood) Podiatrists also cleaned people's feet and gave them medical advice and references if needed. Jeanie Sharp, a receptionist and assistant with the Podiatry Group, was thrilled with the turnout and said, "This is what this time of year is all about." She said once the office formalized the initiative, Dr. Comfort — a national company and one of the group's biggest partners — donated 150 pairs of shoes to the cause.
Source: R J Walters, mlive.com [12/11/10]